Chapter I

Foreword

The Apples of Hesperides...

King Eurystheus didn't stop after the last labor, he demanded two more!
The hydra and stables did not count... because reasons.

What must hercules do now?
Bring to him, the Apples of Hesperides, fruit of the gods.

But where?
But why?

Tricks and secrets, doing the impossible. Perfectly easy for Hercules.
Surely after countless fights, murders and sacrifice (human and so forth) the journey would be over.

As soon as he has the apples, he must return them, they are the god's apples after all.

If this doesn't work, what will Eurystheus do to send Hercules to his death?
Stay turned!
